Fair of Patent-Medicine Vendors Narrowly Escaped Rough Treatment.

BRAZIL, March 17.—Two well-dressed men in a carriage stopped in front of Bratton's jewelry store last night and announced that they were advertising agents for a new medicine. They played banjos and sang until an immense crowd had congregated. Then they began selling medicine at $1 per bottle, giving each purchaser a ticket, which, when presented at the close of the entertainment, was to entitle him to his dollar or an equivalent. After about $100 was gobbled by the strangers they hastily drove away. However, they were closely followed by an angry mob, pelting them with stones. The driver was struck by a heavy iron cinder and badly hurt. Finally the men succeeded in reaching the Rialto Hotel, where they met a warm reception. An immense crowd, armed with corn-knives, hatchets and clubs collected, and it took the combined efforts of the police force to prevent a bloody scene. Eventually the sharpers disguised themselves in different garments and escaped on the west-bound passenger at 9 o'clock.

BOODLE ALDERMEN CAUGHT

Three Chicago Newspapers Uncover a Mess of Municipal Rottenness.

City Fathers Who Make a Business of Selling Their Votes Given Away by Frightened Pals and Now Prison Awaits Them.

CHICAGO, March 17.—As a sequel to the recent passage by the City Council of an ordinance granting permission to the Chicago Power Supply and Smoke Abatement Company, more familiarly known as the Compressed Air Company, to use the streets and alleys of the city in about any manner it sees fit, the indictment of a number of aldermen by the grand jury for alleged hoodlums is promised. The City Press Association reports: "Hitherto the most flagrant kind will be shown. Corruption and rottenness beyond the ideas of the most cynical citizen will be disclosed and the facts which make a position on Chicago's Council one worth thousands of dollars of preliminary expenditure in nominations will be disclosed. To-morrow evidence will be presented to the grand jury showing beyond the peradventure of a doubt that certain aldermen have been paid liberally and in hard cash for their votes. The jury will listen to a tale of rottenness and corruption to which the 'boodling' of the County Com. missioners was a small affair."

The evidence has been for some time in preparation, and a mesh now incloses some of the city fathers, from which there is little chance for escape. This evidence includes not only confessions of several guilty parties, but the letters incriminating money to purchase votes, together with the greenbacks themselves, with which those votes were purchased. The men who have been indicted in working up these cases have spared no expense, and have made sure of each step. They have witnesses who have seen large sums of money paid to the representatives of corporations to individual aldermen, and who have heard the aldermen promise, on receiving the money, to cast votes on a certain measure in a certain way. Some received it at their homes from messengers. Several were paid in the precincts of the City Hall, and it is said that two sold their votes in the lobby of the Council chamber.

When the Northern Pacific ordinance was passed, and when the active support of the Economic gas proposition was made by prominent members of the Council, suspicion was created, and when, in one instance, a witness testified that he had seen certain aldermen receiving money, the investigation was set on foot which, it is now said, will end only when several present members of Chicago's City Council are wearing the stripes at Joliet penitentiary. General Lieber, the former of the grand jury, and State Attorney Longenecker have formally indicted the evidence which the latter has for some time been preparing shall be presented to the jury to-morrow.

The witnesses subpoenaed are two members of the Council who were dragged into the boodling operations, and who have expressed a willingness to tell all they know. State Attorney Longenecker says he expects to show that all three named aldermen—the Compressed Air, the Northern Pacific and the Economic gas—were passed by virtue of the purchase of votes for hard cash.

BRAZEN OFFICIALS.

Later, in an interview, State Attorney Longenecker said that several aldermen would assist in the inquiry. In addition to those who have confessed that their votes were purchased, several will testify that they were approached and refused to entertain the overtures made to them by corporation representatives. Still others will testify that aldermen openly boasted that they had sold their votes, and that they were certain that almost every alderman favorably connected with the three ordinances in question was guilty of receiving money for his vote.

"Why," said he, "it is generally admitted that it requires money to get an ordinance through the Council, and many of the aldermen make no secret of the fact that they will not vote without money. Unless they are rewarded for so doing, in some cases the reward is in the shape of a trade in votes, and in some cases, as in the case of alderman Ward, and this increasing his popularity among his constituents. In others, and by far the greater number of cases, the consideration is in the coin of the realm."

The following statement is officially issued by the gentleman who has taken the prosecution, and who represents three local newspapers that have been assisting in the investigation: "Several will testify that to begin by the grand jury contemplated a certain scrutiny of the methods employed in bringing about the passage of the Economic Gas, the Northern Pacific and the Compressed Air ordinances. The evidence which will be presented by the grand jury is not limited to the confessions or disclosures of one man, but covers a wide range of facts and individuals. The plan to catch the Council and discover what aldermen were engaged in bringing about the passage of the ordinances was devised and put into execution before the appearance of the Economic ordinance. The most serious part of the case is a conspiracy. Several will testify that three cases of bribery will be put in evidence. The Northern Pacific ordinance was passed by almost precisely the same methods employed in the Economic Gas. The Compressed Air ordinance has not only been much more so, but the aldermen were expected by them. Settlements were being made yesterday and the day before. Money was shown to the grand jury by at least two aldermen, who gave it to be understood that it was what they had received for their votes. The grand jury will be difficult in indicting and convicting several well-known aldermen. It is not our desire to convict only the aldermen, however. We desire, also, to punish the guilty of bribing members of the Council, and we will not stop this investigation until they are brought to justice. We will show the door the cringing evidence leads."

The Economic ordinance referred to was originally passed by a vote of 40 to 10. It was passed over the veto of 10 to 10 by the Northern Pacific, giving the railroad company a valuable franchise, received sixty-one affirmative and three negative votes. An investigation of the manner in which the ordinance was passed, resulting in nothing but the repeal of the ordinance. It was immediately passed again by another vote of 40 to 10.

Various members of the City Council when questioned to-night regarding the corrupt grant jury investigation, said they had been expecting it and all said they were willing to go before the grand jury and tell the truth. Several of them had, during the pendency of certain ordinances, been approached with offers of money to vote for them, and they had indignantly denied that they had accepted any such offers.

The Compressed Air ordinance was passed by a vote of 40 to 12. A week or two later, after the Mayor had signed the ordinance, another ordinance was presented to the Council, providing for the repeal of the original ordinance. This repealing ordinance failed of passage by a vote of 40 to 22.

Strike on the Canadian Pacific.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17.—The conductors and brakemen on the Canadian Pacific railroad went on strike at 1 o'clock this morning. The strike is a general one, but few freight trains are in operation.

The strike was begun against the vigorous protest of a large majority of the men themselves, and in response to the command of the representatives of brotherhoods in the United States who have been here for the past few days. There is little sympathy here for the strikers, in view of the wages that the men appear to have been paid according to the statement published by the company. During the busy months last year freight conductors were paid better than $200 a month each, and the two or three duties months of the year freight conductors earned from $25 to $100 and brakemen from $25 to $35.

GRINDING IS SLACK.

The Pillsbury Mills the Only Ones That Maintain the Usual Speed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 17.—The Northwest miller says: As a result of four additional mills being idle, the flour output last week showed a decrease.

The aggregate production for the week was 153,618 barrels, averaging 24,439 barrels daily, against 130,520 barrels the previous week, 125,300 barrels for the corresponding time in 1891, and 137,700 barrels in 1890. The Pillsbury mills alone made 76,989 barrels last week and they show no sign of letting up. There is now almost as much water power as the mills can use. There were fifteen mills running Wednesday, and they were turning out the rate of one hundred thousand barrels per twenty-four hours. Large shipments of flour are being made by river, over the Burlington and Northern, and the supposition is that a cut of 2½ cents per one hundred pounds is being made in the all-rail rate. The direct export shipment, last week, were only 33,840 barrels, against 32,725 barrels the preceding week. London quotations per one hundred pounds, c. i. f., are: Fat ones, 50¢@50½; bakers' (nominal), 25¢@27½; low grades (nominal), 14¢@15½.

His Neck Broken in a Scuffle.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 17.—Professor Clarence C. Dockerty and P. Gallagher, a New Orleans man, engaged an attorney for a building association, were in a party at the Exchange Hotel bar-room at Alexandria, La., yesterday, over the Burlington and Northern, and the supposition is that a cut of 2½ cents per one hundred pounds is being made in the all-rail rate. The direct export shipment, last week, were only 33,840 barrels, against 32,725 barrels the preceding week. London quotations per one hundred pounds, c. i. f., are: Fat ones, 50¢@50½; bakers' (nominal), 25¢@27½; low grades (nominal), 14¢@15½.

The two got up an improper sparring exhibition and were given the spectators an exhibition of the sport, when they punched and before they could break away Dockerty's foot caught in the foot road in front of the bar. He fell heavily to the floor, face down. He did not move after touching the floor, and when picked up it was found that his neck was broken.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that death was the result of a skull fracture. Professor Dockerty was principal of the Alexandria High School and Business College.

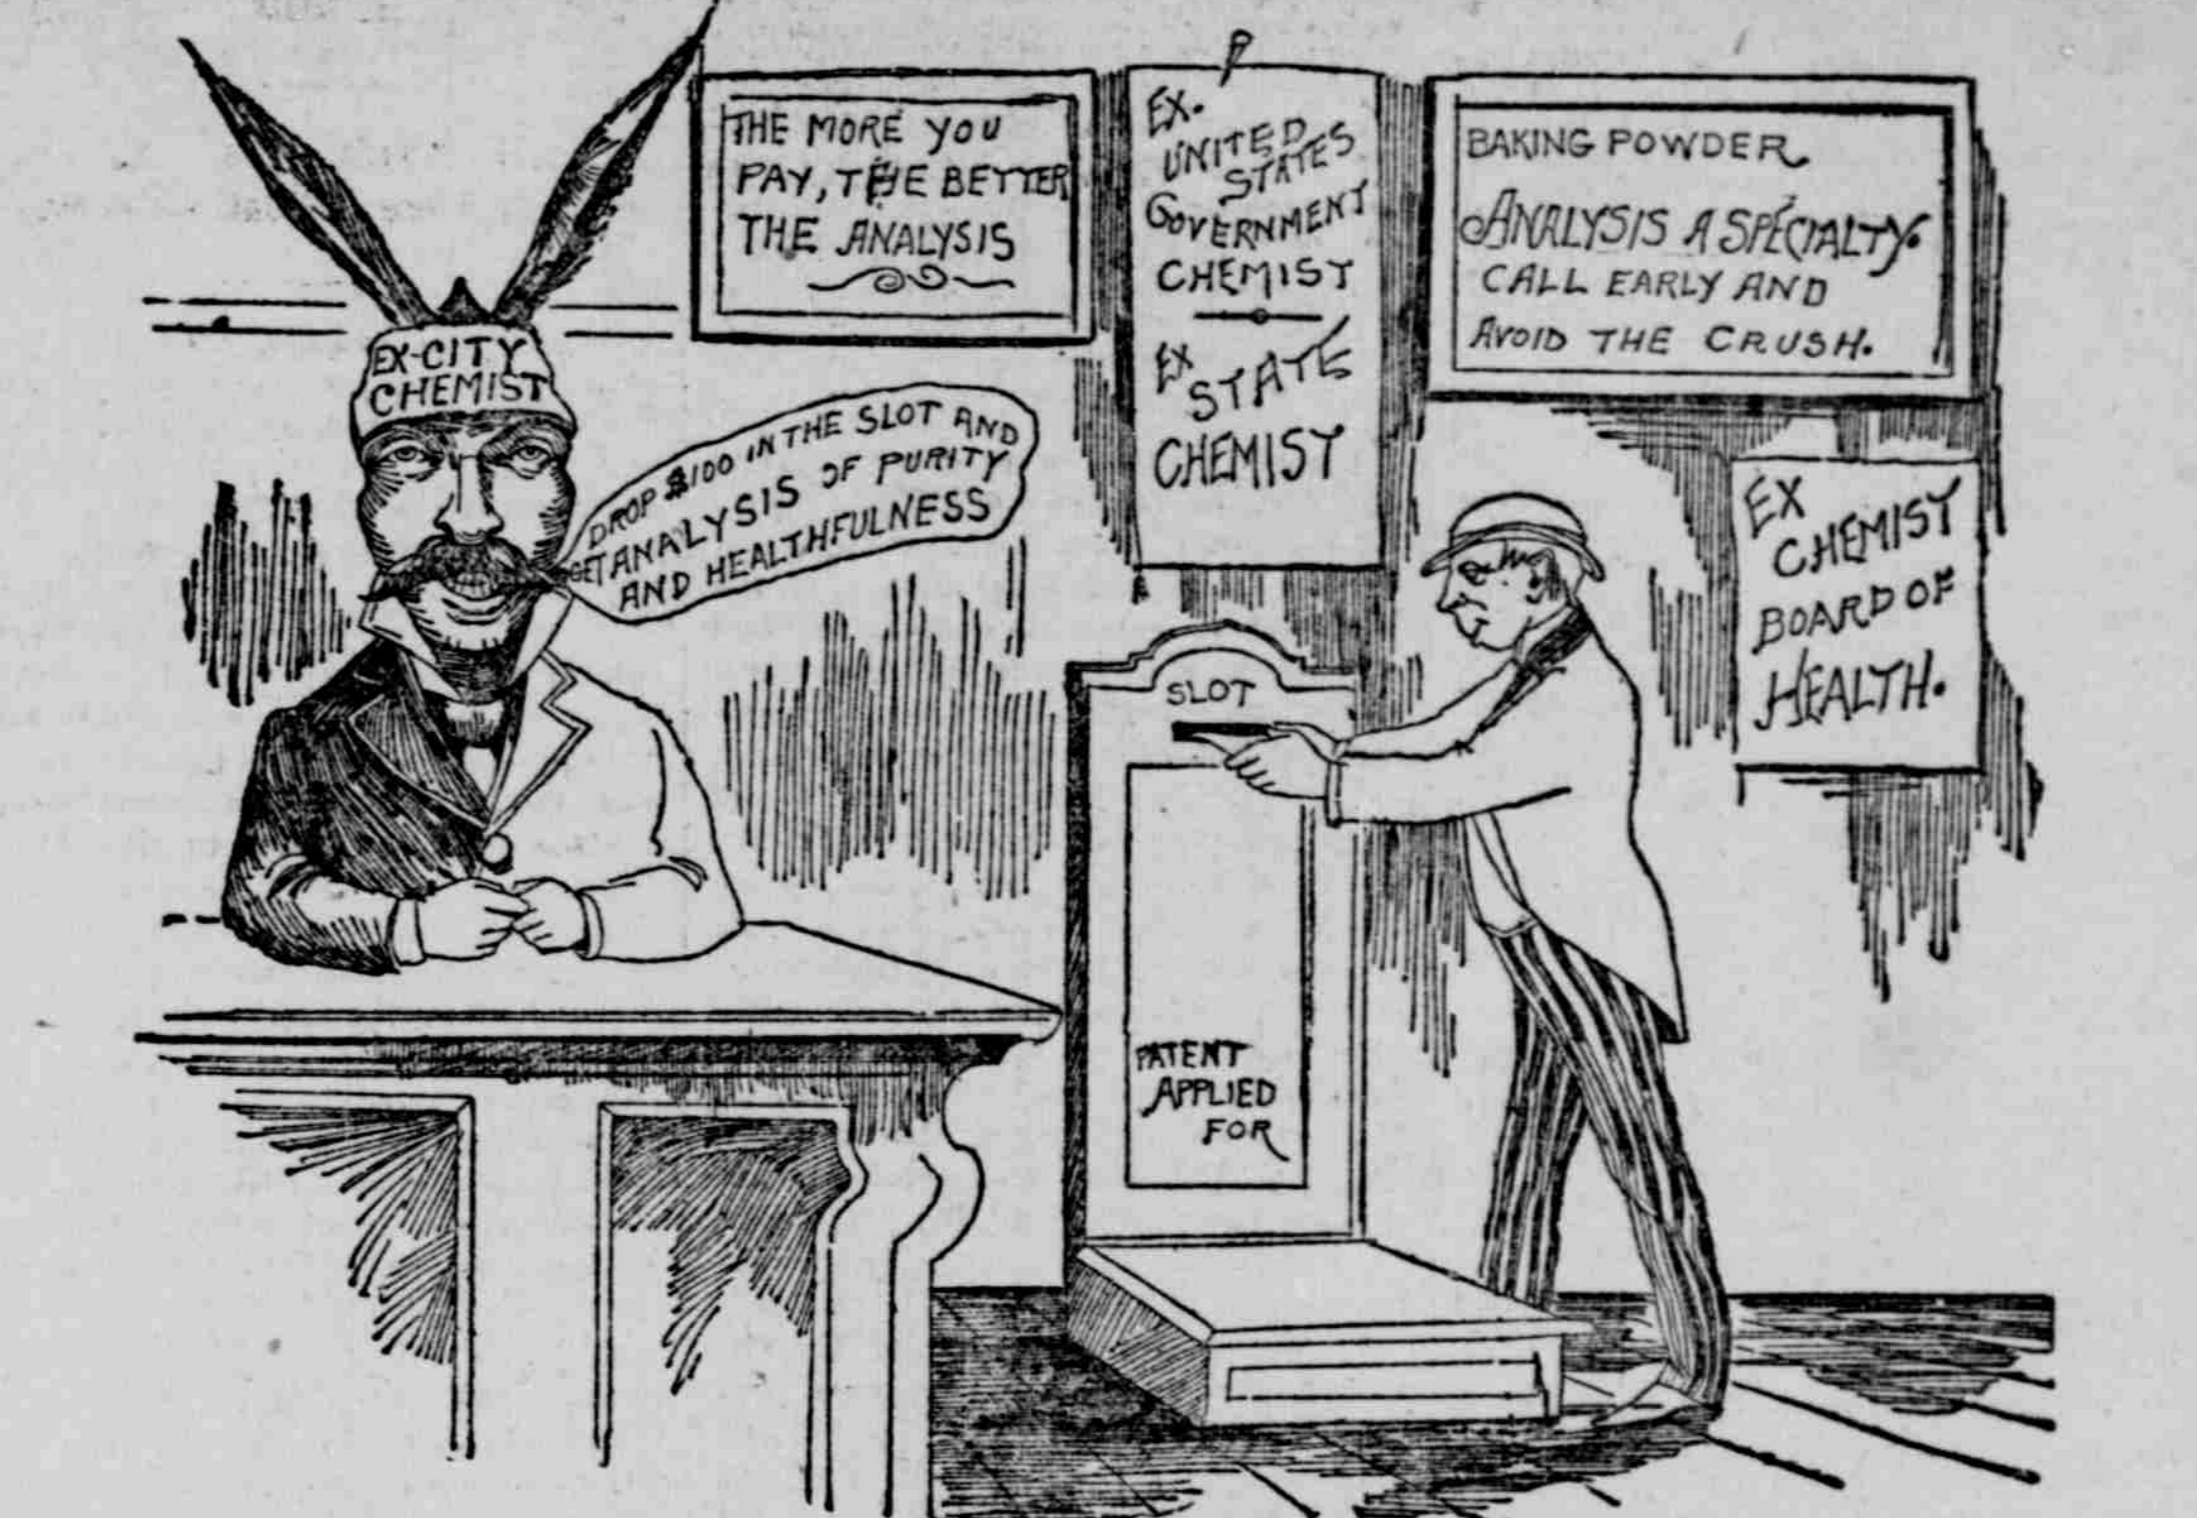

Lost His Head Through Fame.

NEW YORK, March 17.—The strange career of Richard A. E. Gaebler, the amateur detective, who made a specialty of hunting down big gamesters, is fast drawing to a close. He lies in ward No. 13 of Bellevue Hospital with a fractured skull, received by a fall while drunk. He went to Recorder Smythe and got sworn in as a special officer, and thereafter directed all his energies to hunting down the swindlers. He had remarkable success, catching his men one after another. The notoriety and prominence he earned by his detective work quite turned his head. He tried to get on the police force, telling every one that he was a great detective.
